Wee Winks Market...

was one of the first businesses to operate in Duck, beginning in 1976. The market was built on Route 12--where the pavement stopped and the sand road to Corolla began. The landmark store was constructed by Jerry Davis--son of Miles "Wink" Davis--and it was the last place to grab supplies before heading north to Corolla (and its 19 residents). By 2013, the store was rebuilt to reflect a more modern Outer Banks and rebranded Wee Winks Market and Deli. The gas pumps were gone, but a kitchen was added for preparing delicious sandwiches, salads and pastries. As new owners Tim and Amy Kelly take over the family-owned business from Nathan and Ninette Bearfield, Wee Winks Market and Deli maintain its 50-year commitment to supplying local residents and vacationers with all their food and grocery needs.
